SULFURIC ACID – Kosher and Halal statement

Dear Mr. Kaczynski,

Please note that after investigation and discussion with a Kosher organization it was concluded that sulfuric acid does not require Kosher certification since, as far as Jewish dietary laws are concerned, sulfuric acid is an innocuous product. Consequently, NorFalco is not certified and supply is acceptable from any source.

Additionally, sulfuric acid supplied to NorFalco is produced by metallurgical facilities. Food is not handled at these facilities.

Therefore, a Kosher and Halal certification is not applicable for NorFalco's sulfuric acid.

Please note that this letter does not constitute legal advice and should not be relied upon as such. We encourage Veckridge Chemical Company and its legal advisors to independently review applicable laws and regulations regarding the use of sulfuric acid. NorFalco makes no representations about the suitability of any sulfuric acid sold by NorFalco for any particular use. Veckridge Chemical Company is solely responsible for ensuring that its use of sulfuric acid complies with applicable laws and regulations. NorFalco's representations and warranties regarding any sulfuric acid sold by NorFalco to Veckridge Chemical Company shall be limited to those expressly set forth in the applicable sale and purchase agreement between the parties.

Sincerely,

Marie-France Rollin
